

Creation of renewable energy based society in Japan - PV planning for 100 years

Mika Ohbayashi

Japan Renewable Energy Foundation, Japan

Biography

Mika Ohbayashi is Director at Japan Renewable Energy Foundation since August 2011. Before joining the establishment of the foundation, Ohbayashi worked for International Renewable Energy Agency (IRENA) as Policy and Project Regional Manager for Asia Oceania. She also served as Deputy Director at Institute for 8 years since its establishment in 2000. After some years work experience, she started her carrier in the energy field by joining Citizens' Nuclear Information Center in 1992, there she was in charge of energy issues and Asian nuclear program.