

Outlook for solar PV development in Southeast

Wilfred Walsh

SERIS (Solar Energy Research Institute of Singapore), Singapore

Abstract

I will review the status of the solar photovoltaic markets globally and as they relate to several countries in Southeast Asia. I will review the markets by type of system deployed, support policies and resultant demand. A brief review is made of the critical factors that affect the levelized cost of electricity in these markets.